REMARKS

25X1

1. Prior to the middle of December 1951, Volkspolizei Dienststelle (VPD) 9150, which is the motor transport battalion of the HVA, was located on Adloner Chaussee, Berlin-Adlershof. The unit numbered about 250 police and was organized into the headquarters, 2 companies of trucks, 1 company of sedans, 1 motorcycle section, 1 special platoon of buses and 1 repair shop. VPD 9150 had about 100 ZIS trucks, about 80 Horch Diesel trucks, about 100 sedans and 8 motorcycles. *

2. Officers of the VPD included VP Rat Enter (fnu), commanding officer; VP Rat Meinig (fnu), deputy commander and PK officer; VP Kommissar Schneider (fnu), commanding officer of 1st Co; VP Rat Kuehnelt (fnu), commanding officer of 3d Co; and VP Rat Schrot, PK officer of 3d Co.

3. The mission of the motor transport battalion was to haul supplies, weapons and equipment to all companies of the HVA; and to provide sedans for HVA officers on official trips. [redacted] the central supply depot of the HVA in Bad Schandau had no organic motorpool. Courier trips were effected by the courier section in Niederlehme.

• [redacted] Comment. A comparison with information of the summer of 1951 indicates an increase in the strength of VPD 9150 by one company of trucks and an increase in vehicle equipment by 80 trucks and 10 sedans.
